

An Introduction to Futures Analysis: through a new lens

The world is rapidly changing, and disruption has become the new norm. Thinking proactively about the future landscape, and taking a systematic approach to understanding future possibilities and risks, is an increasingly vital tool of enquiry for national security professionals.

This program introduces participants to the basics of futures analysis, including a range of methods for considering both short and long-term challenges and opportunities. These methods help analysts and policymakers identify the drivers of change, enables a better understanding of plausible operating and policy environments, and helps in shaping possible responses.

Past presenters for this program include: Dr Ryan Young and others.

2020 program date: 22-23 June

Venue: #132 Crawford Building, Lennox Crossing, ANU

Enrol / enquire: Contact T 02 6125 2233 E epd.nsc@anu.edu.au

Cost: $2,250 (GST ex) for government, $2,700 (GST ex) open rate. Course is fully catered.

National Security College: a joint initiative of the Commonwealth Government and the Australian National University

The National Security College Difference

Choose NSC for your executive and professional development needs. We bring world-class knowledge and a diversity of perspectives to the table in a trusted learning environment so that Australia's national security community are best equipped to tackle the issues of today, and the future. We do this by offering a range of dynamic programs that promote:

- Strategic dialogue
- Critical analysis
- Shared learning and
- Diverse collaboration within a trusted and secure environment.

